JUST A THOUGHT: LIFE AFTER DEATH:

A TIME TO REMEMBER

The late John O'Donoghue poses a series of questions addressed to the uncle who has just died, because the loneliest thing about losing someone to death is that you wonder where they are, who they're with, and what's happening to them. At the end of the poem, then, there is a subversion of that whole line of questioning, and it turns the attention another way. Here's how it reads:

Where did you go when your eyes closed and you were cloaked in the ancient cold?

How did we seem, huddled around the hospital bed?

Did we loom as figures do in dream?

As your skin drained, became vellum, a splinter of whitethorn from your battle with the bush in the Seangharraí stood out in your thumb.

Did your new feet take you beyond, to fields of Elysia, or did you come back along Caherbeanna mountain where every rock knows your step?

Did you have to go to a place unknown?
Were there friendly faces to welcome you,
help you settle in?

Did you recognize anyone? Did it take long to lose the web of scent, the honey smell of old hay, the whiff of wild mint and the wet odour of the earth you turned every spring?

Did sounds become unlinked, the bellow of cows let into fresh winterage, the purr of a stray breeze over the Coillín, the ring of the galvanized bucket that fed the hens, the clink of limestone loose over a scailp in the Ciorcán?

Did you miss the delight of your gaze at the end of a day's work over a black garden, a new wall or a field cleared of rock?

Have you someone there that you can talk to, someone who is drawn to the life you carry?

With your new eyes can you see from within?

Is it we who seem outside?

SHRULE CEILE

in Shrule Community Centre on Saturday night 31st October. Music with Matt Cunnningham and his band all are welcome

A LITTLE BIF OF HUMOUR,

Lord, Don't Let Me Be Late: A little girl, dressed in her Sunday best, was running as fast as she could, trying not to be late for Bible class. As she ran she prayed, "Dear Lord, please don't let me be late! Dear Lord, please don't let me be late!" As she was running and praying, she tripped on a curb and fell, getting her clothes dirty and tearing her dress. She got up, brushed herself off, and started running again. As she ran she once again began to pray, "Dear Lord, please don't let me be late!...But don't shove me either."

"Your heart is slightly larger than the average human heart, but that's because you're a teacher."

UPCOMING EVENTS AT ESKER:

- Understanding Dreams 10th, 17th and 21st November: Tapping into the wisdom, challenge and guidance of dreams. 7.30pm-9.30pm each night by Fr. B O'Rourke.
- The Enneagram 21st & 22nd November: By Fr. Benny Mc Hale.
- Facing Death and Living Fully: By Fr. Brendan O'Rourke C.Ss.R. Imagine you knew you had a year to live. What would that be like? A weekend of input, video, conversation and laughter, where we look death squarely in the face, and, paradoxically, learn to live more fully.

CROI NUA - AUTUMN LECTURE SERIES

LIFE CHALLENGES: Fr. Brendan O'Rourke CSsR

- UNDERSTANDING ADDICTION: Wednesday November 4th, 7.30 -9.30 p.m. Addictions are cunning, baffling and powerful! It is good to understand what's attractive about them, and how, after the love affair we become their prisoners. It is also important to know the path to freedom.
- UNDERSTANDING CO-DEPENDENCY: Wednesday November 11th, 7.30-9.30 p.m. Many of us learn to relate to others in ways that damage us. We give away our power. We can't say no. We lose ourselves and over-focus on others. That's co-dependency. It doesn't have to be like this. There is hope.
- UNDERSTANDING SUICIDE: Wednesday November 18th, 7.30-9.30 p.m. Is death the goal of suicide, or a way of ending pain? This presentation looks at significant developments in understanding suicide. It will give suggestions for helping people who may be suicidal while also looking at the particular nature of grief and grieving in the wake of death by suicide.

BOOKING ADVISED: Also coming up next week:

- Mindfulness Day Saturday November 7th 10-4p.m. Booking necessary
- Enneagram Part 1 November 8th & 15th 2-7p.m. Booking necessary

ALL SAINTS DAY: We can often get side-tracked by canonised saints and forget the saints that we, ourselves, have known. These were people who did the 'ordinary' extraordinarily well; who brought us untold joy by simply being, caring, loving, by lives poured out in the service of others. They were people who loved life, who made us laugh and laughed themselves till their sides hurt; who affirmed us and others; who built up rather than tore down; they also thought of the world as essentially a good place and rejoiced in it, while being fully aware of their own shortcomings. Thomas Merton once wrote: 'For me, to be a saint is to be myself.' Salvador Ryan. St Patrick's College, Maynooth
